"He plans to paint every hill from his country and then he will stop and return home..."

Hetti Perkins, curator of Aboriginal works at the Art Gallery of New South Wales

Hunted as an outlaw over 40 years ago, once crowned the winner of the prestigious Alice Prize and named as one of Australia's 50 most collectable artists. Billy Benn Perrule primarily paints from memories formed many years ago. He paints his mother's country, his grandfather's country and very occasionally, his father's country, with his images emerging from a special meeting place found somewhere between memory, spirit and feeling.

Nicky Ginsberg and Piera Potter warmly invite you to attend a special dinner and talk.

WEDNESDAY 3 MARCH, 6.30 for 7pm

Richard Morecroft in conversation with MCA curator Glenn Barkley, Dean of
